Women's Day Celebrations within the URI Great Lakes Network

- CCs in the URI-Great lakes network had a robust participation in celebrating women's achievements from their different locations, From South Sudan, Rwanda, DRC,. In Uganda, the URI-GL Secretariat join hands with some Ugandan membership to join the campaign to "Press for Progress".
- We proudly commend Wipe my Tears Foundation (WTF) in South Sudan with support from UNMISS on the drive for "empowering Women for Peace on the Cessation of Hostilities. (Their drive on our cover picture tells it all). The RESEAU CULTUREL SANGWA (RCS)-CULTURAL NETWORK SANGWA-Rwanda did an amazing work in winning the continued government support in promoting a poverty free generation for women and their families. In DRC, the Misercorde women in Minembwe embarked on a community campaign calling upon members of the society to respect women by giving them equal treatment in all spheres of life. In Uganda, some of our CCs namely, Action for Fundamental Change and Development (AFFCAD), Restoring and Empowering Communities (REC), PROMETRA Uganda, Body and Soul Development and Interfaith Youth Partnership (IYPA), joined their network friends in Mayuge (Friends of Community Health) and Jinja's Latter Glory of Religions in Busoga, to Press for women's inclusion in Property Ownership. These are amazing efforts from our membership, and we believe, a life or two is saved from the social injustices that face a conflict stricken region like the Great Lakes. We thank our CCs for their solidarity in uniting for peace. We also thank our master and mistress of ceremony, Mr.Jaffer Nnyombi (AFFCAD) and our local community facilitator from Jinja, Ms. Mukyala Monica Katenderi respectively for keeping the function lively. We celebrate every woman anywhere in the world and all the men that make women's issues their interest. The cover picture is a moment shared by Wipe my Tears Foundation CCs based in South Sudan, during their campaign supported by UN Mission in South Sudan (UNMISS) for putting women at the fore for Peace in the cessation of Hostilities in that region.

The World Interfaith Harmony Week Celebrations

It was one of those days during the WIHW celebrations, that surprise came knocking on the Secretariats doors. It was the team of PAMOJA CCs coming to celebrate interfaith harmony with the URI-GL secretariat Staff and in their words in part, "...we know you work day your hearts out to see to it that CCs make relevance in the communities they serve, but its very rare for you staff to be rewarded for the enormous work you do. That is why we have decided (as Pamoja team) to come and celebrate this day with you as a token of appreciation for mentoring the entire Great lakes Network..." A cake was shared among the Pamoja and the Secretariat staff, with the Regional Coordinator going back in time on the journey and essence of World interfaith harmony, which was a definitive learning for most of the members. The memories of this courteous gesture will live to stay in our hearts. We thank Pamoja CC members (led by Shabnam Olinga & Patrick Teko) and the entire tea for their loving hearts and choosing to celebrate this interfaith harmony cause with us. Across the border, we had two of our CCs groups, the National Coalition of Religions and Communities Together Burundi and the Central Africa Conflict Prevention Association (CACOPA) in DRC join the world for their first time ever to celebrate the World Interfaith Harmony Week. Our religious based group in Burundi brought different religious leaders together to awaken for the cause of interfaith harmony as a way of working with them to introduce it to their communities. For CACOPA CC, it was a gesture of humility visiting prisoners in Munzenze prison and provided them with basic necessities and made some motivational talks to help them face the challenges while in prison.

URI Trustee Nominations

During this quarter we had a robust participation of our members in the nomination of Trustees from Africa to serve on the URI Global Council, which serves as URI global governing board. The Trustees of URI are called to manifest the vision and values of the Preamble, Purpose, and Principles and model leadership and service by their actions, and to help secure URI's financial sustainability. Most of the contacts within the region (especially those with difficulties in internet access) had to move to urban places to make their CC certification and trustee nominations. Majority of our CC members in Uganda found the Secretariat an easier way, where as those across the border from DRC, South Sudan, Rwanda and Burundi used the same strategy of visiting internet cafes to have their forms sent. Kenya CC members had a convention in Nairobi to agree on supporting one candidate for the Trustee position. As we stand today, all ears are on the ground to know who the lucky members are to becoming Africa's next trustee representatives on the URI Global council for the next four years.
